Plays & Players

"FAUST."

White's "Faust" attracted a large Monday matinee audience to Cook Opera House yesterday afternoon, and in the evening there was not a vacant seat in the theatre. Scenically, it is a splendid production and the pathetic story it tells is one of which the public seems never to tire. Like a fairy tale of childhood days, "Faust" fascinates and entertains and interests again and again. The presenting company is thoroughly capable. In the portrayal of the role of "Marguerite" by Miss Olga Verne, however, lies the chief artistic charm of the performance. Miss Verne's "Marguerite" is an exquisitely delicate yet forceful piece of work which gives promise of high future attainment. Her career may be watched with interest. Mr. Richard's rendition of Mephisto left nothing to be desired. In short, "he was great."

The electrical effects introduced are excellent. The famous Brocken scene is sufficiently weird to give the beholder sulphurous dreams for a fortnight.—Rochester Herald. This same production will be seen at the Grand Opera House New Year's Day—matinee and evening performances.

GREAT VICTORIA FALLS.

South Africa—that "Dark Continent"—which we knew as "The Great Unknown" only a few years ago is no longer the land of mystery that it was only a few decades ago.

first comprehensive reproduction of the Great Victoria Falls of the Zambesi. For the first time, all the splendor of the original "Nature's Masterpieces" will be shown at the Grand Thursday evening, January 2. This feature of Mr. Howe's new program reveals the gigantic gorges, foaming torrents, wonderful atmospheric effects, and clouds of water above and below the fall. Other pictures of nature's marvels have lived for a short day, but of this eye can never grow weary. The charm and harmony of the whole, the beauty of the setting, is ineffably enhanced by the rich coloring of a full, warm African sunset, while the brilliance of the scenes at dawn and by moonlight can never be forgotten.

There is not one minister of the gospel in this city that can preach a sermon that will attain better results than will be shown by the witnessing of a good performance of Porter J. White's "Faust" at the Grand, Wednesday afternoon and night.

Baltimore World: "To those who think moving pictures are pretty tame amusement, Lyman H. Howe's Pictures come as a great surprise. His is a three-ring circus with fireworks and fringes on the side, with grand opera and melodrama all thrown in. No other moving pictures seen in Baltimore can in any

Who Plays Rather an Important Part in "Faust" at the Grand Opera House Wednesday.

Since the intrepid Dr. David Livingstone sacrificed his life in exploring this continent of amazing resources, since James Gordon Bennett's memorable and laconic "Find Livingstone" (addressed to Henry M. Stanley) South Africa has been the cynosure of the world powers. To discover the most magnificent and awe-inspiring scene on the face of the earth—The Great Falls of the Zambesi—was a fitting reward for the heroism and self-sacrifice of the great Livingstone. And that one achievement, aside from all others, might well have made him feel content to lay down his life. Since the great discovery, the world has heard only at intervals of this sublime spectacle. It has still been so inaccessible that writers and even lecturers of travel have hesitated to plunge into the vast, strange continent and therefore the public knows only in a dim, vague way of the most beautiful gem of the world's scenery. Defying all the hardships, risks and dangers that kept others back, Lyman H. Howe has finally secured the

MARION FAMILY THEATRE.

An excellent bill is being offered at the Marion Family theatre this week and Monday three packed houses witnessed the performances.

Levitt and Falls open the show with a very clever comedy novelty act. The members of the team offer a very unusual amount of entertainment for the money invested. The songs are new and catchy, the acts good and the crayon drawing, paper tearing and juggling feats all that could be asked for by the audience.

Miss Laura Buckley, the mime, offer a very unusual amount of house by storm. Her imitations and readings are of a high class order and the reader won a warm spot in the hearts of those present right off the reel. Miss Buckley was compelled to respond to several en-cores. Mr. E. P. Rowe sang with success that pretty ballad "The Heart You Lost in Maryland, You'll Find in Tennessee." The illustrated pictures were very pretty.

The Three Ross Singers do a difficult singing and dancing act that takes exceptionally well. The toe dancing of the younger members of the team is very fine. The Teddy bear song makes a hit with the little folks.

The last turn on the bill is one that cannot help but please. Howell and Webster are members of a team that can certainly entertain. The singing is a feature of the act. The comedy clever clean and wholesome.

The show closes with the moving pictures, "Too Many Children."

AT THE GRAND.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" was presented to two fair sized houses yesterday at the Grand Opera House. The company was a well balanced one and as usual gave a performance that appealed to the little folks. Uncle Tom was fine, Topsy, great. Marks, funny; Little Eva, sweet and pretty and the blood hounds vicious. What more could the children desire.

SKIMMED MILK DIET FOR FAT FOLKS?

Physicians who are callous and hard-hearted, prescribe a diet of skimmed milk for the reduction of fat. It is a sure, but insupportable method of cure. Other doctors not less successful but more considerate of their patient's comfort prescribe a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime of the following: One ounce Marmola, one-half ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and three and one-half ounces Syrup Simplex, which is, by the way, just as sure and quick a means of relief as the old-fashioned skimmed milk method, and a far more pleasant one, for a fat person can eat the same variety and quantity of food as usual while taking this remedy and still lose twelve to sixteen ounces of superfluous flesh a day.
